Good furniture, like good clothes, is cheaper in the end. If you divide its coat by the days of service you get you'll find the difference in favor of the best grades. But this does not signify that price quant be high, too. Some people measure quality by the dollars given in exchange for house furnishings but the surest plan is to consider the reputation of the firm you buy from, first: their experience in the line, their reliability their readiness to live up to their claims, and, last but not least, their financial ability and willingness to make good their guarantees.

Our success is living evidence of our record for measuring up to the above shade trequirements. When you buy goods here we are more particular to see that you are satisfied than to make a profit—a sort of hobby and a pride that's complete when you're pleased.
